

What is Energetic Healthcare?

ENERGY... we may not know what it is, but we know when we have it & especially when we don't have it!

Your body is designed to heal itself and as medicine begins to catch up with physics, a new era in healthcare is emerging where Bio-energetic Technology promotes the healing process by stimulating the healing ability of the body. Einstein demonstrated through his equation ($E=MC^2$) that energy is matter, and matter is energy. Therefore, if we are energy, then our physical state should also be influenced by energy. Unfortunately, we live in a world that continuously interferes with this natural healing capacity, through the modern-day stresses of biochemical toxins and electromagnetic pollution. The concept of energy medicine is that energy systems are the infrastructure of the body and energy is the medicine. When your energy is vibrant, so is your body!

Dr. Deepak Chopra stated in his book, Grow Younger Live Longer: "Your body is not a mechanical structure, it is a field of energy, capable of perpetual healing, and the use of nutritional supplements may take you to a higher level of well-being." All medications can have bad side effects, even when taken in proper doses. Therefore, it would seem logical to minimize the amount of medications we take and to use the most natural and safe health solutions as possible.

Good Energy Technology is a proprietary process of a frequency infusion, whereby health-promoting frequencies are infused into products. These bio-energetic products focus on stimulating the body's energy field, encouraging health, rather than suppressing physical symptoms. The true challenge in healthcare is not to kill our pathogenic invaders, but to strengthen our own immune system's health to resist disease. Just as a car needs gas, the body needs energy to function. Classical acupuncture; neural therapy; trigger point injections; manual manipulations; and energetic healing all have the same goal...to restore energy flow to problematic (energy-diminished areas) of the body. Now what if there were products which existed that interacted with your physical body to heal itself by targeting energy flow to these problematic areas of the body...naturally? Take a look at this 4-minute video: http://www.drwolfe.com/good_energy/presentation

Crystal Clarity: MSM stands for methylsulfonylmethane, a natural substance present in food and in the human body. MSM supplies a biologically active form of sulfur, which promotes the intercellular transport of toxins and nutrients. MSM's crystalline structure is an excellent medium for the Good Energy Technology frequency formulas. So, if your brain needs more mental clarity and your body needs an energy boost, try this product.

Body Therapy Cream: The definition of pain in Chinese medicine is a blockage of energy flow. "Pain is the way the body transmits a sign to the brain that something is wrong." (Norman Cousins). Suppressing such a pain signal is like unplugging the oil pressure warning light on your dashboard and assuming that your engine problem is fixed! Just as a car needs gas, the body needs energy to function. Restoring the energy pathways, or "chi" flow to symptomatic areas can have a corresponding reduction in the pain signal. Acupuncture, neural therapy, trigger point injections, manual manipulations, and energetic healing all have the same goal... to restore energy flow to problematic, energy diminished areas of the body. Now what if there were products that interacted with your physical body to heal itself by targeting energy flow to these problematic areas of the body...naturally? Body Therapy Cream is such a product. It's a new generation of "Bio-energetic" healthcare products...encouraging health, rather than suppressing symptoms.
